

MAYBEWELL BOOKS ★

FIELD NOTES • VOLUME SIX

Letter to the Future

A Correspondence Book for Sealing, Storing, and Opening Later
Carta al Futuro

A CORRESPONDENCE BOOK

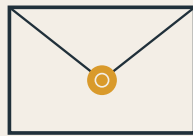

some things are worth waiting for.

maybewellbooks.com

MAYBEWELL BOOKS

Letter to the Future

A Correspondence Book for Sealing, Storing, and Opening Later

some things are worth waiting for.

HOW TO USE THIS

Before You Begin

This isn't a journal you'll reread next week. It's built to be sealed and put away — in a drawer, a box, wherever you keep things you mean to come back to — and opened on purpose, later, by the person you'll have become by then.

This book works in three moves:

- REFLECT Each section opens with a few questions to sit with before you write. You don't have to answer them on the page — they're just there to get you thinking honestly before you start.
- WRITE Write the letter itself on the ruled pages that follow. Be as honest as you'd be with someone you trust completely — because you are.
- SEAL When you're done, fold the section shut, write the open-on date on the cover line, and store it somewhere you won't stumble on it by accident. The waiting is part of the gift.

There is no wrong way to write to yourself. Say the true thing, not the impressive one.

OPEN IN

1 Year

BEFORE YOU WRITE

- What do you hope has changed about your daily life by the time you read this? What do you hope hasn't?
- What's something happening right now that feels bigger than it will probably look in a year?
- Write to the version of you who's already forgotten what today actually felt like.

Open on: _____

Dear Future Me,

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

OPEN IN

5 Years

BEFORE YOU WRITE

- What do you hope you've built, learned, or finally let go of by the time you read this?
- What's a question about your life you can't answer yet, but might be able to in five years?
- Leave a message for the person you're becoming — even the parts you can't picture yet.

Open on: _____

Dear Future Me,

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

This image shows a blank sheet of white paper with horizontal ruling lines. The lines are evenly spaced and run across the width of the page. There are no margins, text, or other markings on the paper.

[illegible]

OPEN IN

10 Years

BEFORE YOU WRITE

- What do you hope is still true about you in ten years? What do you hope has changed completely?
- Who do you hope is still in your life? Who do you hope you've forgiven, or been forgiven by?
- Leave a question for your future self that only they will be able to answer.

Open on: _____

Dear Future Me,

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

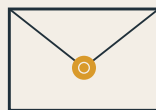

[illegible]

Instructions for Storage

This book only works if you actually put it away. A few notes before you do:

- WHERE Somewhere physical, not digital — a drawer, a shelf, a box of things that matter. Somewhere you'll find it by accident in a few years, not somewhere you'll check every week.
- WHEN Mark each section's open-on date somewhere you'll actually see it again — a calendar reminder works, even if the letter itself doesn't get opened digitally.
- WHO If you forget, or if something happens before you get there, name someone below who should make sure this book finds its way back to you — or gets opened with care if it can't.

If I forget, this book belongs to:

Then put it down. It'll be exactly where you left it.

3 letters · 1 / 5 / 10 years · ∞

Share when you open one: #LetterToTheFuture