MAYBEWELL BOOKS

The World Is Watching

A Field Guide for Face Hunters

look closer.

Before You Begin

You've done this your whole life. A socket gasping at the wall. A car that woke up grumpy. A cloud with an opinion. Scientists call it pareidolia — the mind's habit of finding faces in things that were never given one. We're just giving it a name and a place to collect it.

This book works in three moves:

- FIND Each page tells you where or how to look. That's all the help you get, and all you need.
- LOG Write down where you found it, and when. A find without a location is just a doodle. A find with one is a record.
- DRAW Put the face in the box. Draw exactly what you saw, or what the face was clearly about to become. Both count as true.

The stars tell you how hard the hunt is:

- ★☆☆ easy — it's probably in the room with you
- ★★★ some effort — you'll have to go looking
- ★★★ a real challenge — patience, timing, maybe luck

There is no wrong way to log a find. Faces don't hold still, and neither do the rules.

Go slowly. Look closer. Everything is looking back.

SECTION ONE • 12 FINDS

Household Faces

Start where you live. The residents have been waiting.

FIND

Find an outlet, switch, or socket that's watching you.
Draw its expression.

Two holes and a slot is all a face needs. Check the quiet corners of the room.

LOG

🕒 Where I found it: _____ 📅 Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Search your kitchen appliances for an angry face.

Toasters hold grudges. Kettles whistle about it.

LOG

● Where I found it: _____

Date: _____

DRAW

Find a doorknob or handle with a surprised look.

Round mouths everywhere. Some have been gasping for years.

LOG

● Where I found it: _____  Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Look at your bathroom fixtures. Find one that looks worried.

Faucets frown. Drains worry. The mirror has seen it all.

LOG

● Where I found it: _____ 📅 Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Find a face hiding in the folds of a curtain or towel.

Soft faces rearrange when the window opens. Catch one first.

LOG

● Where I found it: _____

 Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Search your furniture for a face that looks tired.

Old chairs slump. Handles droop. Wood remembers being a tree.

LOG

● Where I found it: _____  Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Find two different objects with faces that seem to be talking to each other.

What would a lamp say to a fan? Draw both sides of the conversation.

LOG

🕒 Where I found it: _____ 📅 Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Find a face in the pattern of a rug, tile, or wallpaper.

Patterns repeat, but faces hide in the breaks and smudges.

LOG

● Where I found it: _____ 📅 Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Look inside a drawer or cupboard. Find a face among the clutter.

Faces assemble themselves when nobody tidies.

LOG

🕒 Where I found it: _____ 📅 Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Find a face that only appears when the light hits an object a certain way.

Come back at a different hour. The face keeps its own schedule.

LOG

🕒 Where I found it: _____ 📅 Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Find a face in a knot of wood — a table, a door, a floorboard.

Every knot was a branch once. Some of them still look out.

LOG

🕒 Where I found it: _____ 📅 Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Search your closet. Find a face made by hanging clothes or shadows.

Sleeves make ears. Hangers make shoulders. Shadow does the rest.

LOG

● Where I found it: _____  Date: _____

DRAW

SECTION TWO · 12 FINDS

Urban Faces

Streets, walls, machines. The city practices its expressions.

FIND

Find a window that looks like an eye. Where is it looking?

Follow its gaze. Draw what it's been staring at, too.

LOG

🕒 Where I found it: _____ 📅 Date: _____

DRAW

Search a building's façade for a full face — two windows and a door.

Buildings wear their faces slowly. Cross the street for the full portrait.

LOG

📍 Where I found it: _____ 📅 Date: _____

DRAW

Find a face that only appears from one specific angle.

Move until it appears. One step further and it's gone.

LOG

● Where I found it: _____ 📅 Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Find a traffic light, sign, or fixture with a face.

Signals blink. Signs stare. Some fixtures never learned to look away.

LOG

● Where I found it: _____  Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Search a parking lot for a car that looks surprised or grumpy.

Headlights are eyes. Grilles are mouths. Some cars are furious about it.

LOG

📍 Where I found it: _____ 📅 Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Find a manhole cover, drain, or grate with a face.

The street looks up more often than anyone looks down.

LOG

● Where I found it: _____ 📅 Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Find a face made from two unrelated things — one from a building, one from the street.

A window for one eye, a lamppost for a nose. Cities collage themselves.

LOG

● Where I found it: _____ 📅 Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Find a mailbox or trash bin with an expression.

Slots and lids — mouths that swallow all day and never chew.

LOG

☒ Where I found it: _____ ☐ Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Search a construction site or scaffolding for a hidden face.

Scaffolding makes cheekbones. Tarps make sleeping eyelids.

LOG

Where I found it: _____  Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Find a face in a crack, stain, or patch on a wall or sidewalk.

Damage has a face. Usually a surprised one.

LOG

● Where I found it: _____ 📅 Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Find a face made by shadows between buildings, only visible at a certain time of day.

Note the time next to your date. This face keeps office hours.

LOG

📍 Where I found it: _____ 📅 Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Find a bicycle, scooter, or bench with a face.

Handlebars are eyebrows waiting to be noticed.

LOG

● Where I found it: _____ 📅 Date: _____

DRAW

SECTION THREE · 12 FINDS

Natural Faces

The originals. Nature invented the face and never stopped doodling.

FIND

Find a cloud with a face. What expression does it have?

Fast workers, clouds. Sketch quickly — the expression won't hold.

LOG

● Where I found it: _____  Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Search tree bark or a tree trunk for a sleeping face.

Old trees sleep standing up. Look at trunk height, then look up.

LOG

● Where I found it: _____ 📅 Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Find a rock or stone with a face.

The oldest faces on earth. They're in no hurry to be found.

LOG

● Where I found it: _____

📅 Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Find a face that only appears when the sun is low (shadow makes the expression).

Golden hour is face hour. The light does the drawing; you do the copying.

LOG

🕒 Where I found it: _____ 📅 Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Find a face in a puddle, pond ripple, or water reflection.

Water borrows faces from everything above it.

LOG

● Where I found it: _____ 📅 Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Search a garden or a patch of leaves for a hidden face.

Somewhere between the stems, something is peeking.

LOG

● Where I found it: _____  Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Find a face in the grain of a piece of wood or driftwood.

The grain flows around what used to be there. Faces snag in the current.

LOG

● Where I found it: _____  Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Find a face made by the arrangement of several small stones or pebbles.

Nobody arranged them. That's the strange part.

LOG

🕒 Where I found it: _____

📅 Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Search fallen leaves for a face made by their shapes.

Autumn drops a thousand faces and keeps walking.

LOG

● Where I found it: _____  Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Find a face in a root system or tangle of branches.

Tangles hide profiles. Follow one line until it becomes a nose.

LOG

● Where I found it: _____ 📅 Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Find a face in the pattern of a plant's leaves or petals.

Symmetry helps. Two leaves and one bloom — that's a face.

LOG

● Where I found it: _____

📅 Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Search moss or lichen on a wall or rock for a face.

Slow-growing portraits. This one took decades to look at you.

LOG

● Where I found it: _____ 📅 Date: _____

DRAW

SECTION FOUR • 12 FINDS

Faces in Motion

Shadows, reflections, things seen for a moment. Fast sketches only.

FIND

Find a shadow that makes a face — yours or something else's.

Shadows rehearse expressions all day. Catch one mid-performance.

LOG

🕒 Where I found it: _____ 📅 Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Find a face that only exists for a few seconds and then disappears.

Draw from memory. Field hunters trust their first impression.

LOG

🕒 Where I found it: _____ 📅 Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Find a face in a reflection on glass, metal, or a screen.

A dark screen is a mirror that remembers nothing.

LOG

● Where I found it: _____  Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Find a face made by steam, smoke, or fog.

Breath-faces. They last about as long as a sigh.

LOG

● Where I found it: _____ 📅 Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Find a face made entirely of light and shadow — no real edges, just contrast.

Squint until it appears. Then don't blink.

LOG

🕒 Where I found it: _____ 📅 Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Find a face in the ripples of water when something is dropped in.

Drop a pebble. The water makes a face about it.

LOG

● Where I found it: _____

 Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Find a face made by two moving things crossing paths for a moment.

A bus passes a lamppost, and for one second — someone.

LOG

🕒 Where I found it: _____

📅 Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Find a face in the way light flickers through moving leaves.

Dappled light blinks. Some blinks have eyes.

LOG

🕒 Where I found it: _____ 📅 Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Find a face in your own shadow on the ground.

You've walked with this stranger your whole life.

LOG

● Where I found it: _____ 📅 Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Find a face made by a curtain or flag moving in the wind.

Wind gives fabric a temper. Draw the mood, not the cloth.

LOG

● Where I found it: _____ 📅 Date: _____

DRAW

Find a face that appears only in a photo, not to the naked eye.

Cameras catch what the eye edits out. Check your last few photos.

LOG

🕒 Where I found it: _____ 📅 Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Find a face in the spray or splash of water.

Freeze it mid-splash: crown, eyes, open mouth.

LOG

● Where I found it: _____ 📅 Date: _____

DRAW

SECTION FIVE · 8 FINDS

Food Faces

A short section. Good finds here are rare — and usually delicious.

FIND

Before eating something today, look for a face on your plate. Draw it before it disappears.

Breakfast is the most-watched meal of the day.

LOG

● Where I found it: _____ 📅 Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Find a sad face in the foam of a drink or coffee.

Foam faces sink slowly. Sketch before your next sip.

LOG

● Where I found it: _____

Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Find a face in a piece of fruit or vegetable.

Peppers are dramatic. Potatoes have seen things.

LOG

● Where I found it: _____ 📅 Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Find a face in the arrangement of food on a table.

Nobody set the table to look at you. And yet.

LOG

● Where I found it: _____

📅 Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Find a face made by crumbs, spills, or leftovers.

The meal leaves a self-portrait behind.

LOG

● Where I found it: _____ 📅 Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Find a face in a slice of bread, toast, or a pastry.

Toast is the classic: browned unevenly, watching evenly.

LOG

● Where I found it: _____ 📅 Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Find a face in the pattern of a plate, mug, or napkin.

Someone decorated the dishes. The face snuck in on its own.

LOG

● Where I found it: _____ 📅 Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Find a face made by the shadow of food on a table or wall.

Even a face's shadow can have a face. Tilt the lamp.

LOG

🕒 Where I found it: _____ 📅 Date: _____

DRAW

SECTION SIX · 12 FINDS

Nocturnal Faces

After dark, every light is a lantern and every shadow applies for a face.

FIND

Find a face that only appears when a light turns on — a lamp, a car.

Flip the switch. Someone arrives.

LOG

🕒 Where I found it: _____ 📅 Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Find a face made entirely of shadows, with no drawn edges — just light and dark.

The hardest faces to prove. The best ones to draw.

LOG

● Where I found it: _____

Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Find a face in a streetlamp, porch light, or lit window at night.

Night lights hold still. Take your time with this one.

LOG

🕒 Where I found it: _____ 📅 Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Find a face made by headlights on a wall or ceiling.

Passing cars throw faces across the room, then take them away.

LOG

● Where I found it: _____  Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Find a face in the stars, or in the way you imagine a constellation.

People have done this for ten thousand years. Add yours to the record.

LOG

🕒 Where I found it: _____ 📅 Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Find a face in a night-light or the glow of a screen in the dark.

Small lights make gentle faces. Mostly.

LOG

● Where I found it: _____ 📅 Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Find a face made by moonlight through a window.

The moon draws with a cold pencil. Look on the floor.

LOG

● Where I found it: _____

 Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Find a face that seems to change expression as a light source moves.

Carry a lamp, a phone, a candle. Watch the face watch you back.

LOG

● Where I found it: _____ 📅 Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Find a face in the reflection of a lit window on a dark street.

A face made of somebody else's evening.

LOG

● Where I found it: _____

 Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Find a face hiding in the dark corner of a room, made by shapes and shadow.

It was always there. You just never said hello.

LOG

🕒 Where I found it: _____

📅 Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Find a face made by two different light sources overlapping.

Double light makes double shadow. Double shadow makes strange faces.

LOG

🕒 Where I found it: _____ 📅 Date: _____

DRAW

FIND

Find a face in the pattern city lights make from a window or rooftop.

A skyline is a crowd. Find one face in it.

LOG

🕒 Where I found it: _____ 📅 Date: _____

DRAW
