

M A Y B E W E L L B O O K S

Draw What You Imagine

Eighty prompts to spark the imagination

for anyone who still imagines out loud

A C R E A T I V I T Y B O O K

maybewellbooks.co

For you, who still imagines out loud.

Before you begin

This is not an instruction book.

There are no right answers. No borders to respect, no shapes to copy, no colors you have to use. It won't tell you how to draw a tree or make a house look real.

What it does have are questions. Strange questions. Questions nobody would ask you at school. Questions that sometimes can't be answered with words — only with lines, shapes, smudges and colors.

Every page will ask you to draw something that doesn't exist yet. Something that lives in your head, and only you can bring it out.

Use pencils, markers, crayons — whatever you have. Fill it with color or leave it blank. Make it small or let it spill off the page. You're in charge here.

There is only one rule:

Draw what you imagine, not what you know.

It doesn't matter if you're young or old. It doesn't matter if you've never taken an art class. All that matters is that your imagination is still there — waiting for a pencil.

This book is yours. Fill it.

— With love, Maybewell Books

How to use this book

- Start anywhere.
There's no right order. Each prompt is its own little world.
 - Take your time. One prompt a day, or ten in a row. Both are perfect.
 - Nothing is a mistake. A wobbly line is just a line that's dancing.
 - Come back later.
The same prompt can become a completely different drawing next month.
-

Difficulty levels

- ★ ★ ★ Easy to imagine Close your eyes and it's already there.
- ★ ★ ★ Requires some thought Let the idea simmer for a minute.
- ★ ★ ★ Total challenge For the bravest imaginations.

Start anywhere you like. Each prompt is its own world.

What's inside

- 1

Living Emotions

What does the inside of a feeling look like?

prompts #1–#12

p.5
- 2

Impossible Objects

Everyday objects hide secret lives.

prompts #13–#24

p.18
- 3

Alternate Worlds

What if the rules of the world were different?

prompts #25–#36

p.31
- 4

Invented Creatures

Not all animals have been discovered yet.

prompts #37–#48

p.44
- 5

Strange Conversations

Draw a scene from a conversation that shouldn't

prompts #49–#60

p.57
- 6

Body & Senses

Your body sees, hears, feels and sometimes knows

prompts #61–#72

p.70
- 7

Time & Space

Time is weird. Space is even weirder.

prompts #73–#80

p.83

Living Emotions

What does the inside of a feeling look like? These prompts turn invisible emotions into visible images.

12 PROMPTS · #1 – #12

1

Draw what joy looks like when nobody is watching.

Hint: Does it jump? Does it glow? Does it make a color noise?

2

Fear has a shape. Draw its exact silhouette.

Hint: It doesn't have to be a monster.

3

Draw the color that sound would make if it could be painted.

Hint: Close your eyes, listen to something, open them and draw.

4

Sadness built a house. What does it look like inside?

Hint: Does it have windows? What color are the walls?

5

Draw what your stomach feels like when you're waiting for something really important.

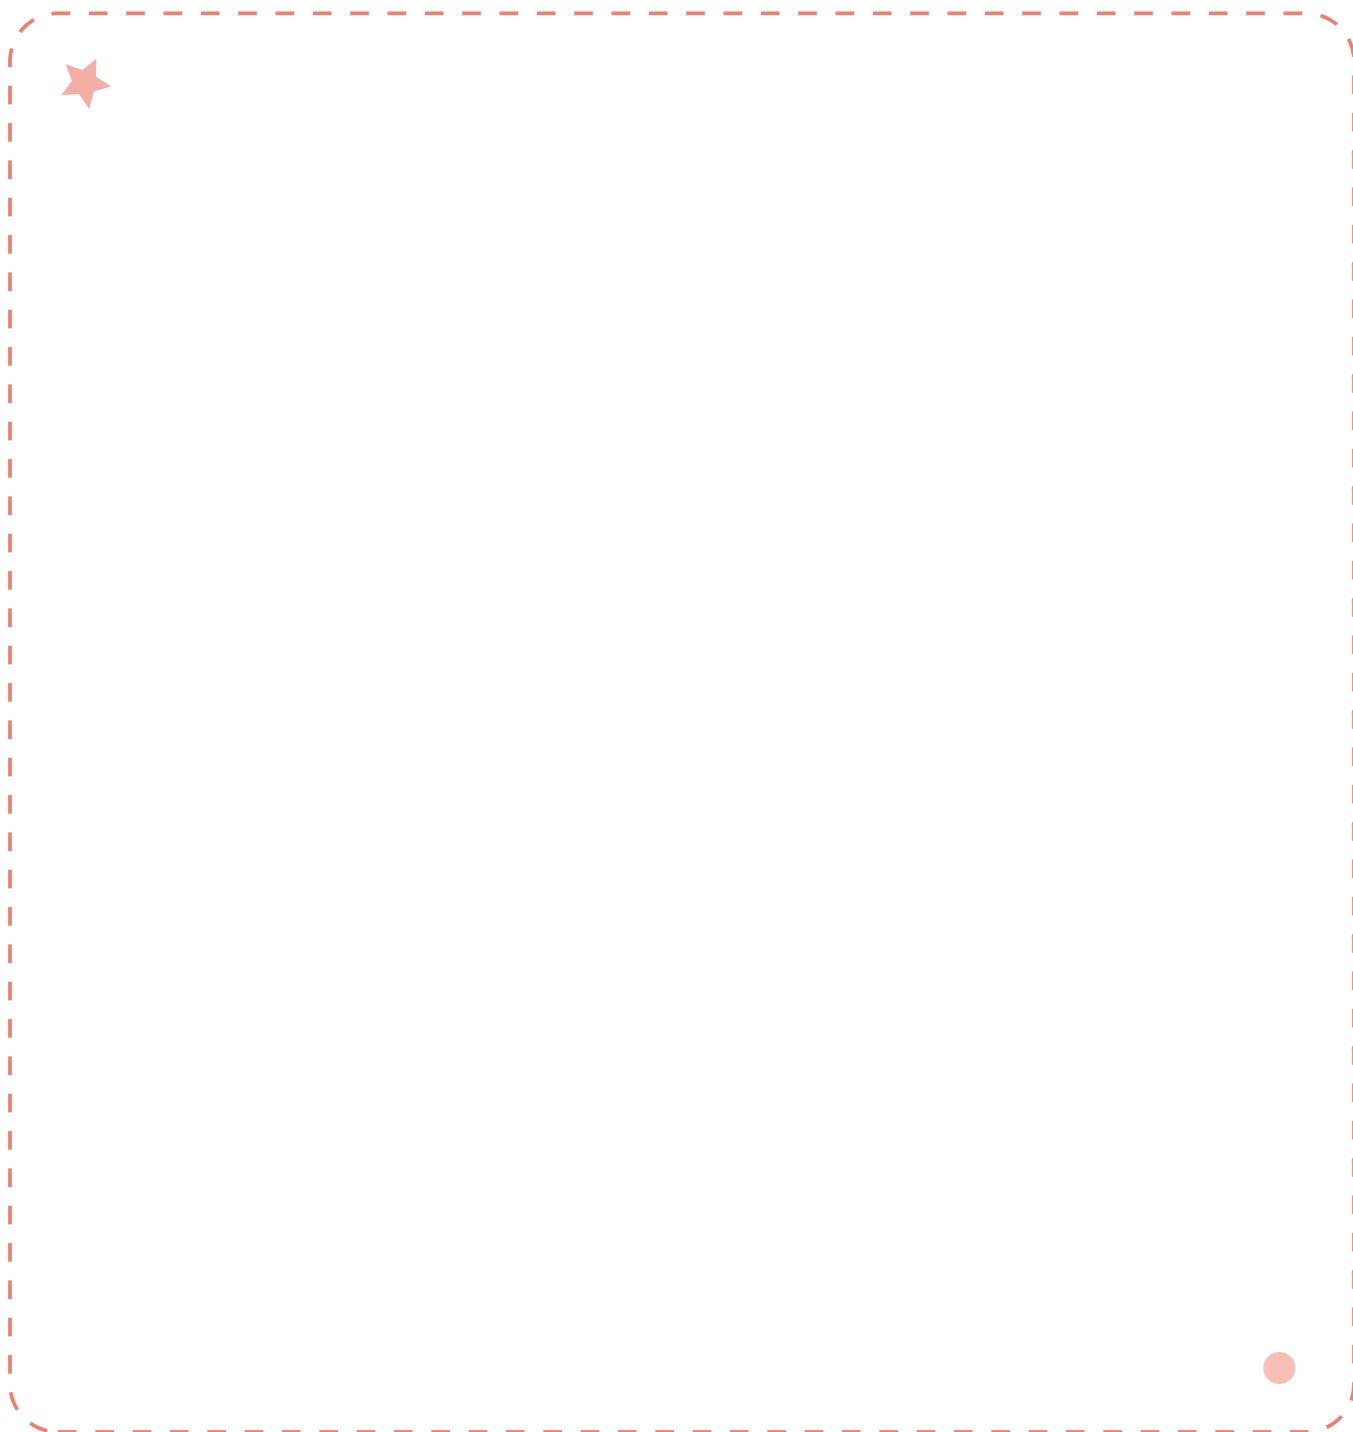

Hint: Butterflies? Knots? A tiny storm? Draw the inside weather.

Calmness has a texture. Draw that texture filling the whole page.

Hint: Is it smooth, rough, wavy?

Draw the face boredom would make if it were an animal.

Hint: What animal would be THAT bored? A sloth? A very patient rock-lizard?

8

There's an emotion with no name. Draw what it looks like.

Hint: The one you feel when something is beautiful and sad at the same time.

9

Draw the exact moment when anger turns into laughter.

Hint: Draw it like a comic: one face, caught mid-transformation.

10

Surprise has a sound. Draw what that sound would leave if it hit a wall.

Hint: A splat? A crack? Confetti? Draw the mark it leaves behind.

11

Draw your favorite emotion as if it were a planet with its own geography.

Hint: Does it have mountains? Seas? What grows there?

12

Pride is carrying something in its hand. What is it?

Hint: Look closely at its hands. Is it something tiny, or something enormous?

2

Impossible Objects

Everyday objects hide secret lives. Here we put them somewhere they should never be.

12 PROMPTS · #13 – #24

13

A spoon that's been dreaming of being something else for years. Draw what it dreams.

Hint: A rocket? A slide? Something no spoon has ever dared to be?

14

Draw a shoe that doesn't want to walk anymore.

Hint: What does it do instead?

15

A pencil that ran out of point forever. How does it keep drawing?

Hint: Maybe it draws with something that isn't a point at all.

16

Draw the inside of a turned-off flashlight. What lives in there?

Hint: Something must live in all that dark. Is it friendly? Is it sleepy?

17

A chair is hiding a secret under its seat. Draw the secret.

Hint: Nobody has ever looked under there. You're the first.

18

The kitchen clock got tired of going in circles.
Draw what it does now.

Hint: Straight lines? Zigzags? A vacation?

19

A mirror that only reflects what things want to be, not what they are.

Hint: What does it show when you put an apple in front of it?

20

Draw a door that has never been opened.
What's on the other side?

Hint: Take your time. Doors like this only open once.

21

The last page of a notebook. What drawing has it been holding for years?

Hint: It waited this long for a reason. Make it worth the wait.

22

An umbrella that protects from the sun, not the rain. What kind of sun?

Hint: Maybe it's not the sun you're thinking of.

23

Draw what's inside the piggy bank when it's completely empty.

Hint: Is it really empty?

24

A staircase that goes up toward something that isn't the ceiling. Where does it lead?

Hint: Draw the very last step. What is it touching?

3

Alternate Worlds

What if the rules of the world were different? These prompts build new realities from scratch.

12 PROMPTS · #25 – #36

25

Draw a city where buildings grow like plants.

Hint: Do they have leaves? Do you have to water them?

26

In this world, gravity goes upward on Thursdays. Draw a scene from that day.

Hint: What happens to hats? To soup? To sleeping cats?

27

Draw the market where colors that don't exist yet are sold.

Hint: What are they called? How much do they cost?

28

A park where the trees are the visitors and the people are the trees.

Hint: Where do the tree-visitors sit? What do they come to look at?

29

Draw the school for animals who taught themselves to read.

Hint: What subject is hardest for them?

30

A place where time doesn't pass — it only folds. Draw what that looks like.

Hint: Folded time might look like paper. Or like something much stranger.

31

Draw the town where it rains music instead of water.

Hint: Do people carry umbrellas? What kind?

32

A country where shadows are real people with their own lives.

Hint: What do they do when their 'owner' is asleep?

33

Draw breakfast on a planet where colors have flavors.

Hint: What does blue taste like?

34

The night here isn't dark. Draw what color it is and what it brings.

Hint: Pick a color nobody expects. What wakes up in that light?

35

A world where everyone carries their own personal weather. Draw a street full of people.

Hint: One person rains. One glows. One walks inside their own fog.

36

Draw the map of a continent formed from forgotten ideas.

Hint: What countries make it up? What are their capitals?

Invented Creatures

Not all animals have been discovered yet. Here you design the missing ones.

12 PROMPTS · #37 – #48

37

Draw the animal that exists between midnight and dawn. It only appears for 3 minutes.

Hint: Only night creatures have ever seen it. Now you have too.

38

A creature made entirely of unanswered questions.

Hint: What shape does it have? Can you touch it?

39

The animal that takes care of colors people no longer use.

Hint: Where does it keep them? Pockets? Fur? A tiny museum?

40

Draw an insect that lives inside books and only eats boring words.

Hint: What does it look like physically?

41

The creature that's born when two clouds crash into each other by accident.

Hint: Is it fluffy? Electric? A little bit of both?

42

A fish that breathes memories instead of water.

Hint: What memories does it prefer?

43

Draw the pet that misses being wild the most.

Hint: What does it have in its eyes?

44

A creature whose camouflage makes it invisible to sad people.

Hint: Why would it do that?

45

Draw the being that builds the dreams that never end.

Hint: Does it use tools? Which ones?

46

The smallest animal in the universe. So small nobody knows what it eats.

Hint: Draw it huge, so we can finally see it.

47

A creature that is half what you see and half what you imagine with your eyes closed.

Hint: Draw the visible half first. Then close your eyes for the rest.

48

Draw the first animal that existed before there were words to name it.

Hint: No name, no rules. It can look like anything.

5

Strange Conversations

Draw a scene from a conversation that shouldn't be possible...
but happens anyway.

12 PROMPTS · #49 – #60

49

Draw the conversation between Monday and Friday. What do they say to each other?Hint: One is tired. One is excited. Draw the moment they meet.

50

The sun and the moon finally meet. Draw that moment.

Hint: What do they talk about? Did they already know each other?

51

A rock explains to the ocean why it prefers to stay still.

Hint: The ocean never stops moving. What's the rock's best argument?

52

Draw the meeting of all colors to decide which one is kids' favorite.

Hint: Who wins? Is there an argument?

53

The first number and the last number talk for the first time.Hint: Do they get along?

54

A shadow asks its person for permission to take a break.

Hint: Does the person agree?

55

Draw the negotiation between sleep and the alarm clock at 7am.

Hint: Who's winning? Sleep plays dirty.

56

A book tells a blank page what it could become.

Hint: Draw the page's face when it hears the news.

57

Fog and wind argue about which one of them is more invisible.

Hint: How do you even draw two invisible things arguing? That's the challenge.

58

Draw the stars secretly planning what they'll do when the sun comes out.

Hint: Shhh. Draw their secret plan on a tiny blackboard.

59

A word nobody has used in years speaks to a brand new word.

Hint: What words are they? Invent them.

60

The echo asks the mountain if it's tired of repeating everything.

Hint: What does the mountain answer? Does the echo repeat it?

6

Body & Senses

Your body sees, hears, feels and sometimes knows things your brain hasn't figured out yet.

12 PROMPTS · #61 – #72

61

Draw what your eyes see when you close them really tight.

Hint: Sparks? Waves? Floating shapes? Draw exactly what appears.

62

What does silence look like? Draw it filling the whole page.

Hint: Silence might be empty. Or very, very full.

63

Draw the path a thought takes from the moment it appears until it reaches your hand.

Hint: Is it a road? A rollercoaster? A river with detours?

64

Your sense of smell remembers something from long ago. Draw that memory.

Hint: A smell can bring back an entire place.

65

Draw what your voice would look like if you could see it in the air.

Hint: Is it made of ribbons? Bubbles? Zigzags?

66

Touch has favorites. Draw the texture your fingers like the most.

Hint: Soft? Bumpy? That strange one you can't stop touching?

67

Draw what happens inside your head right before you fall asleep.

Hint: Thoughts get strange right before sleep. Draw the strangeness.

68

A stomachache from nerves. Draw what's happening in there.

Hint: Draw the knots. Then draw what unties them.

69

Draw the map of all the places in your body where you store memories.

Hint: Where does joy live? And fear?

70

Your heart keeps the beat of something.
Draw that something.

Hint: Listen to it first. Then draw what it's drumming for.

71

Draw what your ears hear when there is total silence.

Hint: Almost nobody knows real silence.

72

What does a dream look like from inside the dream?

Hint: Inside a dream, even the walls can be made of anything.

Time & Space

Time is weird. Space is even weirder. These prompts put them in situations where they have no idea what to do.

8 PROMPTS · #73 – #80

73

Draw the longest minute that ever existed. What does it look like?

Hint: Sixty seconds can hold a whole world when you're waiting.

74

A Tuesday that decided not to end. Draw what happens in the world.

Hint: Does anyone notice? Who enjoys it? Who panics?

75

Draw the space between two words in a sentence.Hint: That space isn't empty.

76

What does the past look like from the future? Draw that view.

Hint: Is it far away and tiny? Or closer than you think?

Draw the exact place where the sky ends.

Hint: Is there something on the other side?

78

A second that lasts forever. Which second is it? What does it have inside?Hint: Pick the best second you can imagine. Then step inside it.

79

Draw the first day of the universe. Not what books say — what YOU imagine.

Hint: Before books, before words. Just you and the very first light.

80

The future sent you a postcard. Draw the image on the other side.

Hint: Look at the corner: there's a stamp from a place that doesn't exist yet.

Finished?

That's not a thing.

Imagination doesn't run out.

Go back to any page and draw something completely different.

Every drawing you make is unique in the universe.

80

prompts

7 worlds

∞

your ideas

Drew something incredible? Share it with #DrawWhatYouImagine — we want to see what you created.

Printing tips

- Prints beautifully on standard Letter or A4 paper.
- Designed to be ink-friendly: activity pages use black and white with light accents.
- Print single pages again anytime — favorites deserve a second (or fifth) try.
- Thicker paper (120gsm+) works best for markers and paint.

Every page works in black & white — color is a bonus, never a requirement.

Draw What You Imagine — Eighty prompts to spark the imagination
First edition · 2026

© 2026 Maybewell Books. All rights reserved.

Personal use license: this book may be printed as many times as you like for use within your own home or classroom. It may not be resold, redistributed, or shared as a digital file.

Made for humans. For hands holding pencils, for eyes staring at a blank page and seeing something that doesn't exist yet, for imaginations that don't need screens to fly.

maybewellbooks.co